Put Out the Light and

Go to Sleep

Eclipse Thursday night was no moon shine.

Clouds ruined it for me — made the whole business look as confused as the legislators coming home for the week-end.

It goes to show you that news is always of the man-bites-dog variety — millions get interested in a criminal body only when it's on the blink.

Independence, Mo., had another eclipse all its own, and this one could talk — Harry Truman called his congressional critics "pin heads" and "squirrel heads."

Harry says those congressmen think they "know more than anybody else on any subject" — and Harry ought to be an authority on that state of mind; he was the Lone Ranger who barged into the Democratic campaign last year.

What Harry's mad about is, when he was President he said Russia had the atom bomb and we'd better get a move on, but now that he's a private citizen he says Russia doesn't have the bomb and there's no need to hurry — and when the congressmen say Harry is confused Harry is mad.

I'm confused too — but then I recollect Harry isn't President any more and it's all very clear... as clear as it will ever be... I can't see Harry... but then I couldn't see the other eclipse, either.

Labor Disputes Halt Atomic Plant Work

By United Press

Labor disputes halted or slowed construction at five atomic energy installations in the United States during the last six weeks.

Two strikes at Joplin, Mo., and Portsmouth, O., were still in progress today.

But union leaders expressed hope for early settlement of the strike which started Jan. 19 at the Joplin Steam Electric Project. About 200 members of the AFL, Carpenters and Millwrights Union walked out of their jobs in a dispute with AFL electricians about whose members should assemble a generator.

All of the 3,500 workers at the project, which will supply power to the Paducah, Ky., Atomic Energy Plant, were kept from their jobs by the Millwrights' picket line.

Representatives of both unions met yesterday and said they hoped to complete an agreement which would permit work resumption soon.

At Portsmouth, about 50 electricians have stayed away from work for two weeks in a dispute over demands for travel pay. The electricians, part of the construction crew erecting buildings for the Pike County Atom Bomb Plant, said some members had to travel 15 to 20 miles to their jobs. They charged other craft unions were getting travel pay.

But full construction resumed yesterday at the $464,000,000 atomic bomb plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., when 300 striking AFL operating engineers ended a four-day walk-out.

The engineers called the strike after they were refused permission to place attendants on automatic pumps used to drain water from low-lying places in the project area.

Three More Ike Appointments Up for Approval

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Senate Foreign Relations Committee worrying over how to handle two of President Eisenhower's top diplomatic appointments, three others came up for Senate action today.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the committee predicted the three would be confirmed quickly. They are:

Mrs. Oswald B. Lord of New York, to be U. S. representative on the United Nations Human Rights Commission, succeeding Mrs. Franklin D. (Eleanor) Roosevelt. Winthrop W. Aldrich of New York, to be ambassador to Great Britain, succeeding Walter S. Gifford.

Herman Phleger of California, to be legal adviser to the State Department, succeeding Adrian S. Fisher.

When the foreign relations committee acted on Aldrich yesterday, Sen. Langer (R-ND) voted against him. But Langer has given no indication he plans to make any serious floor fight against Aldrich, a wealthy banker.

Insists No Struggle Over Reorganization

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says no struggle is developing today between President Eisenhower and Congress over procedure in streamlining the government.

A change in voting rules recommended by Senate and House committees would make it easier for Congress to veto presidential reorganization moves.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty disclosed yesterday that Eisenhower knew in advance of the planned change — and was agreeable to it. Hagerty said there is no conflict of view on the point.

He told reporters congressional leaders informed the President Monday that the voting procedure on reorganization acts probably would be revised. Hagerty said the President was not opposed.

Dulles Leaves for Talks in Europe Which Might Change Foreign Policy

Warning Earlier Paves Way for Conference

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles leaves for Europe today, packing a threat to "re-think" United States policies toward allies there unless they go through with unification and defense programs.

Dulles and Harold E. Stassen, new boss of foreign aid in the Eisenhower administration, planned to take off in President Eisenhower's plane. They will go first to Rome, then to Paris and London and successively on to Bonn, West Germany capital; The Hague, The Netherlands; Brussels, Belgium; and Luxembourg. They are due back in Washington Feb. 9.

The trip is being made at the direction of Eisenhower, earlier announcements said, to gather information on political trends, "particularly those connected with the defense buildup and related economic factors."

Dulles injected a more specific purpose into the trip in a broadcast talk to the American people Tuesday night. He said it seemed that some of the French people and some Germans want to go their separate ways and that was one reason why Eisenhower had asked Stassen and him to go to Europe—to find out first-hand what the situation was.

France, Germany and four other continental countries in Western Europe negotiated an agreement last year to pool their military forces in Europe under a single Continued on Page Two

Bad Weather Delays Search for Planes

SEATTLE (AP) A forecast of rain and high winds which would keep search planes on the ground gave little hope that three military planes missing in the Pacific Northwest would be found today.

The three planes, an RCAF Dakota transport, an RCAF Mitchell bomber and a U.S. Navy Privateer patrol plane, carried a total of 22 persons.

In addition five of seven persons who were aboard Central British Columbia Airways plane which sank while attempting an emergency landing north of Vancouver, B. C., Tuesday were unaccounted for and feared drowned.

The pilot of the CBCA plane was found alive Wednesday night, along with the body of one of his passengers.

The RCAF Mitchell, carrying five persons, vanished last night while on a routine training flight from Saskatoon, Sask., to Vancouver.

The U.S. Navy Privateer, a P4Y with 10 persons aboard, disappeared Wednesday after receiving clearance to land at the Whidbey Island Naval Air Station, 50 miles north of here. The plane, on a flight from the Alameda Naval Air Station, Calif., was over McChord Air Force Base, near Tacoma, when last heard from.

Cadet to Trial for Slaying Sweetheart

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UP) — The Air Force will take a "hands off" policy while civil authorities try a handsome flying cadet who strangled, killed and buried his 18-year-old fiancée, a spokesman said today.

The cadet, 20-year-old Walter E. Whitaker, Jr., was turned over to civil authorities yesterday so he could be returned here to face charges of murdering his sweetheart, Joyce Fern White, 18.

A spokesman at Lackland Air Force base at San Antonio, said that it was customary for the Air Force to "remain in the background in such cases" until civil authorities convict or acquit the suspect.

If Whitaker is convicted, he said, he will be dishonorably discharged.

Whitaker was stationed at Reed Air Force base at Lubbock when Miss White was killed. He was arrested at Lackland where he had been sent for cadet training.

He confessed that he strangled Miss White with a venetian blind cord on Jan. 8 then stripped her and buried her nude body in a field. Wednesday, Whitaker helped Texas rangers dig the body up.

District Attorney Travis Shelton said the cadet apparently killed Miss White in an argument over a Swedish exchange student who had stayed with his parents in Wethersfield, Conn.

Shelton said the Swedish girl was identified only as "Dim Ulla". Whitaker said she was from Borlange, Sweden.

Whitaker had promised to take Miss White to Mexico and marry her the night he killed her.

"I drove out on a country road," he told investigators, "and then we began arguing. I remember wrapping a piece of heavy cord about her neck and watching her face turned blue.

"The next I remember I was in the back seat of the car with Joyce lying beside me naked."

General Defends 'Scenario' Raid as Successful

By FREDERICK PAINTON

WITH THE U. S. 7TH DIVISION Korea, (UP) — Maj. Gen. Wayne C. Smith today defended his so-called "scenario script" attack Sunday on T-Bone hill as a "success" and of "tremendous value" to his front line forces.

He expressed surprise at the congressional uproar over the raid against a knob on T-bone Jan. 23 in which three men were killed. "The conduct of the individual men was splendid," the 7th division commander said, "the unit is a highly spirited one and comes from a battle which originally helped in conquering Triangle Hill.

Smith said the mission was "to secure prisoners, destroy the offensive works of the enemy and to secure all information possible about the objective area."

Furor over "Operation Smack" led today to the dismissal of Smith of the division's public information officer, Capt. Clair Wolfe, who was given his job back a few hours later, however.

Asked if the exceptional air support was the reason for the number of visitors and correspondents Smith said:

"That's right."

"This action was successful except for securing a prisoner."

WASHINGTON (UP) — A military leader today defended the Sunday's abortive United Nations attack on T-Bone Hill in Korea as a "staged show" without military objective.

They said when the full story is told this weekend it probably will show that the ill-fated raid was amply justified by military necessity and that the "invited guests" were war correspondents and high officers with every right to be present.

Thieves Loot Coin Boxes in Hope Stations

Cigarette and soft drink machines at five local gasoline service stations were broken into and coin boxes robbed of change some time during last night, Hope City Police said today.

Stations hit were all on Highway 67, Barney Starke's Oil Service Station, Walton's Oil, Monte Cities Service, and Webb's Station.

Police said that with the proper tools it was easy to pry the machines coin boxes out. The amount taken could not be immediately determined.

Police also reported that a plate glass window at Stephens Grocery Co., was broken out but there was no sign that the place had been entered.

Also on the police blotter was the loss of a coin purse containing $50. The purse was lost by Alvin Martin of 29 Highway 67.

A man listed as Albert Stevenson, 50, Grand Rapids, Michigan, was released early today following an investigation. Stevenson went to the home of C. Leslie Smith, 3 miles out on Highway 67, east during the night, said no was at the house, and he was taken to a local hospital, where he was treated. After being treated officers picked him up for questioning.

FBI Breaks College White Slavery Ring

CHICAGO (UPI)—FBI agents today studied "little black books" containing the names of 1,000 customers of a smashed white slavery ring that recruited college girls to live in prostitution.

It was not known what action, if any, the federal agency planned against the men listed in the books, but it was understood that the names would be turned over to the Chicago police department soon.

The "Chicago branch" of the white slave ring, which operated in Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin, was broken up yesterday when G-men swooped down and arrested two "madams" and some alleged prostitutes. A man accused of being a ringleader in the wide-spread operation later surrendered at Minneapolis, Minn.

Police believed that another 24 girls involved in the ring's activities were at large here, and a search was pressed for them.

U.S. Attorney Alex Dim said at Minneapolis, which was one of the ring's headquarters, that some of the prostitutes were recruited from colleges. He said that it was likely that at least one girl came from the University of Minnesota and two from small Minnesota colleges.

The federal agents here seized Doris M. Wheeler, 40, a Brownsville, Tex., woman, and Francis Elliott, 41, a straw-berry blonde, on warrants charging them with transporting women from St. Paul, Minn., to Chicago for immoral purposes.

The two women were also arrested of raking in $20 to 40 per cent of the prostitutes' earnings.

John S. Clemon, 48, an alleged white slave kingpin, gave himself up at Minneapolis later in the day. Eight other men, defendants already were in custody at Minneapolis and another was seized at Denver, Colo.

Five other persons indicted on "white slave" charges by a federal grand jury at St. Paul last Friday were still at large, but FBI agents said they hoped to arrest them "soon."

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Blytheville Ark. officials have been advised by Rep. Gathings (D-Ark.) that some federal funds are available to help meet expenses of crowded schools in defense areas.

But, he said, new legislation must be enacted to provide school construction funds.

Gathings wrote C. Ray Hall, president of the Blytheville chamber of commerce, who had inquired what might be done to assist Blytheville schools, now jammed by an influx of children of workers on a big air base there.

Gathings said former President Truman vetoed last year an extension of a law which would have provided school construction funds.

girl's heart with creature comforts and gentle attentions. But is he really thinking of you — or of himself? Think carefully, Maybelle.

It is nice to be married to a thoughtful, considerate husband. But isn't Johnny a bit on the dull side? If you married him he could always be understood, and it might be rather like having a mule mind around the house.

He even sounds too good to be true. And that may be the case, little Maybelle. At 40 Johnny may suddenly decide he wants somebody else, and start putting money in his piggy bank to buy some young blonde a pink coat. That'll mean the old heaven for you.

Bill offers more of a challenge. I would say — the rough-neck kind of male any woman feels she could sculpture into something better.

A man who at the age of eight has the idea of becoming a hermit will probably later turn out to be a bank president — or a bank bandit. It all depends on whether the right woman gets a hold of him.

What if Bill doesn't really know he wants you, Maybelle? What if he does prefer pulling your hair to making love to you?

Your problem is to curb his romantic notions and wild ways. Get your mother to help you. Have her take him some real cookies instead of mud pies. Borrow Johnny's electric train, and invite Bill over to your house to play with it.

Show him the better things of life. Let him see how much fun it is to be with a real, live-wife girl who is looking out for him all the time.

Once you housebreak a guy like Bill he stays housebroken — just like a well-broken horse. Don't worry. Ten years after you're married, he'll be carrying the grocery packages, drying the dishes, and bringing you his paycheck intact.

In his heart Bill may secretly remain a hermit — but he'll be a hermit in your house. And he'll stick to you like a birthmark until his grave.

Anything else doing in the third grade, Maybelle?

Proposes $750 Levy on State Bachelors

LITTLE ROCK, Mo.—A bill to levy an annual tax of $750 on bachelors was introduced in the Arkansas House yesterday by a married legislator, who called bachelorhood "a luxury."

Rep. James Bruton of Conway County would say only "and see whether the House thinks it's a joke" when asked whether his proposal was a prank.

At least two members in the House—Reps. Robert Harvey of Jackson and George Holmes of Cleveland—would be affected by a bachelor tax. In the Senate, Sen. W. F. Fletcher of Lonoke County is unmarried.

Bruton's bill defined a bachelor as a male 21 or older unmarried or not living with his wife.

Proceeds from the bachelor tax would go to the child welfare fund for the care of illegitimate children.

Bruton had his bill referred to the Committee on the Conservation of Natural Resources.

Turk Children Outline Maps in Blood

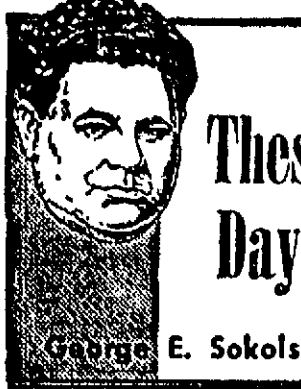

(Editor's note: Among the Allied fighting forces standing beside the U. S. troops on the Korean battle lines none are more courageous than the men of the Turkish brigade and few are more convinced of the necessity for the fight against Communist aggression than these American-equipped troops who have lived as apprehensive neighbors to Russia for centuries. In the following dispatch United Press Correspondent Al Kaff describes the strong ties between these men and the people on the Turkish home front.)
By AL KAFF
WITH THE TURKISH BRIGADE, Korea, (UP) — A map of Turkey, outlined in the blood of Turkish school children, and a Turkish flag, dipped in blood, are carried in Korea by Turkey's United Nations forces.
The map was forwarded to the troops by school children who opened their own veins to stain the map of their homeland.
The flag, proudly displayed in the headquarters of the Turkish brigade is embroidered with the words of Kemal Ataturk, father of the Turkish republic:
"All the power you need is in your blood."
The blood-stained map is "to express our love to you who are fighting for Turkey and for humanity," the school children wrote on a letter which accompanied their gift.
It came from the children of Kirtel, a small town in central Turkey.
Col. Vahit Shellimen, chief of staff of the Turkish troops fighting in Korea, explained the strange token.
"The Turkish people wish to show," he said, "that they are willing to spill their blood as are the Turkish troops in Korea."
The Turks, renowned for their ice-cold courage in combat, have hung the brownish-red map above a map of the Korean battle lines.
A shell case from the Dardanelles campaign of World War I is another of the brigade's trophies. It is filled with the blood of school children in an East Turkish grade school.
"Our army," said Brig. Gen. Sirri Acar, commander of the Turkish brigade, "is sure that the hearts of the Turkish people beat together with ours here in Korea."
WOUNDED BY RAKE
SANTA CRUZ, Calif., (AP) — John Plumbie, 20, told police today he wounded himself with a rake.
Plumbie was raking rubbish into a bonfire, he explained, when all of a sudden there was a loud explosion.
Pointing to wounds in his hip, thigh and arm, Plumbie theorized: "I must have raked up a shotgun shell."
Industry can agree.
Taft, GOP majority leader and principal author of the labor law bearing his name, dropped five bills into the Senate hopper yesterday proposing about 10 different changes in the present law.
Most of the proposals Taft had introduced before in Congress, without getting them enacted.
Some of his main suggestions: (1) increase the members on the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB), which administers the labor law, from five to seven; (2) completely separate the functions of the NLRB's general counsel from the NLRB itself, and (3) make employers as well as union leaders file non-Communist affidavits before they can avail themselves of the NLRB.

Negro Handyman Admits Murder

WESTPORT, Conn., (UP) — A private funeral was to be held today for Mrs. Penny Coates Evans, 30, attractive socialite mother who was strangled and stabbed by her Negro handyman in an argument over his pay.
William Davis, 29, who confessed the murder Monday to his wife and then eluded police for 36 hours in New York, was brought here last night. Authorities sought a first degree murder indictment against him. He was found by detectives yesterday cowering in bed in a hickory Newark, N.J., tenement.
Davis told police he and Mrs. Evans had drunk a pint of liquor Monday at her ranch-style home here where he frequently worked as handyman. Then they argued over his wages and he struck her, he said. When she threatened to call police he stabbed her and strangled her with an electric cord. "I expected to be caught, but not so quick," Davis said.

These Days

ANOTHER MOVIE VOICE
The original theory of private enterprise, often referred to as laissez-faire, was that the increase of capital by a profit was right no matter how it was earned. I personally knew in the Far East upland merchants who were regarded as fine gentlemen engaged in legitimate business. They were members of the best clubs. Prostitution was once a legitimate business and while the women were scorned on moral grounds, the landlords were good businessmen. This attitude toward profits could not stand up in a conflict with moral law. It was not long before the people, through their governments, imposed upon private enterprises restraints and restrictions so that a profit could be produced which included no hint of inefficiency. Most successful business men, of course, by adopting codes of ethics, often more rigid and morally more correct than governments dated to impose.

When I first encountered the motion picture industry intimately, I had assumed that all the stories I had heard about fakers in excelsis were true. Instead, I found at Columbia, Metro, Fox, and other companies, intelligent men, with a deep sense of responsibility. I found the same type of public and moral responsibility which men of large affairs always assume. That did not mean, and does not mean, that they will not pursue a hot profit, it does mean that they will let one go if they can be convinced that it will harm the country.
I want to praise Loew's and Fox West Coast, two of the largest theater chains, for rejecting "Limelight," Charlie Chaplin's picture. The time to show that picture will be when Chaplin is readmitted to the United States, after a hearing. Before that time, it is just making money for a disreputable person who has been ordered to be kept out of this country by the Attorney General of the United States. This is the time to test whether Charlie Chaplin is bigger than the United States.
It would seem that Gunther Lessing has picked a quarrel with one of the most patriotic labor officials in this country, Roy Brewer. Mr. Lessing objected to the opposition of the American Legion to "Limelight," the Chaplin picture, an opposition which Brewer endorsed. Lessing said that he is against the principle involved.
Although you may not have heard of Gunther Lessing before, he is actually a person of considerable importance in Hollywood, as chairman of the Independent Motion Picture Producers. Also he is an officer of the Walt Disney Productions. So far as I know, he has an unfavorable personal record of any kind. He does say that for the American Legion or any other organization to express an opinion about a picture, perhaps in strong language, is wrong in principle.
What principle?
The principle of opposition to Communism? The principle of protecting the young against indecency? The principle of not permitting Hollywood to continue as the treasury for the American Communist Party?
Upon what principle does Mr. Lessing wish to put his case? Let us discuss it.
He further objects to Roy Brewer's complaint about large numbers of American stars and large numbers of Hollywood Communists making pictures abroad to the harm of American workers. Lessing is reported by "Variety" to have said:
"What is not good for the country is not good for either Union or management. If the union leaders had any sense and went along

DOROTHY DIX

Eager for Friends

Dear Miss Dix: I am in my second year of high school. When I was younger, I was very self-conscious and, as a result, was left out of the gang. Now I want very much to join the crowd, but I find it isn't as simple as it appears. I am not popular with either the boys or girls. I am fairly attractive, neat in appearance, have good manners, but have found I need more than that to win friendship. I went to a summer camp this year and made friends very easily. Why can't I do it at home? I go to school parties and complete in sports, but feel rather foolish when I see my classmates do so much better than I.
Answer: There is nothing more imprudent than a closed group of schoolmates. Buckingham Palace itself would be easier to crash. So, naturally the corollary is that nothing is more desirable to a teen-ager than to break into such a group. There is an encouraging aspect, too, it can be done! Patience is needed, friendliness, a desire to be helpful, add them all up and they total an entering wedge.
So don't be discouraged, Sally. Just rally your forces, plan a campaign, and get into the fray. The making money for a disreputable person who has been ordered to be kept out of this country by the Attorney General of the United States. This is the time to test whether Charlie Chaplin is bigger than the United States.

to making friends among your schoolmates. Be quick to pay a compliment. Notice a girl's new dress or hair do. Congratulate a fellow student on some particular success. Be slow to give anyone who would not respond graciously to a comment along these lines. Remember to send birthday greetings or get well cards on appropriate occasions. Don't be gushy about your attentions, but let your friends know that you think of them and remember them on special occasions. Enroll them in aid, and invite the gang to your house for an evening. Good refreshments and a few amusing games will act as wonderful ice-breakers, and let the crowd know that you are a good hostess, a thoughtful friend and would make a considerable ally.
Dear Miss Dix: When I was 18, I had an affair and had to get married as a consequence. While it is true that many marriages like mine don't work out, ours has been fairly successful. However, my parents don't like my husband, and I don't like his people. Neither set of parents will come to visit us. I visit my folks, and my husband sees his, but there the association ceases.
S. R.
Answer: Both sets of in-laws are acting like children. Since you are a happy little family now, your people should forget the past and be willing to visit you. Your husband should get over his sulks and agree to stay home when they call and be a pleasant host. Perhaps on a forthcoming occasion such as a birthday or anniversary you could have a special dinner, and coax your folks to come. If it works do the same with his people and perhaps you may eventually form a family group.
Dear Miss Dix: I am going with a very nice boy and like him a lot. The trouble is that when he says he will phone, or come up to see me, he never does.
S. F.
Answer: You certainly have a queer pal, but perhaps he is too shy to follow through with his own suggestion of phoning or calling. Then too, he may not be sufficiently interested, but I think the former explanation is more probable. Try phoning him down to a definite date at your house and see if he responds.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Allie Reynolds, the Yankees' great right-hander, was cooling out after a little discussion of salary with his employers. And the conversation turned to a number of old wells in which the Chief has an active interest in native Oklahoma.

"Look, Allie," a fellow said, "if you suddenly make a million dollars out of those wells, would you tell the Yankees goodbye or would you go right on pitching baseball? I mean, do you love the game so much that you couldn't give it up?"

"That's not too hard to answer," said the World Series hero. "The truth is that I never have liked baseball. It's just the best way I know of to make money. I always liked football a whole lot better. Maybe it was because of the body contact."

There was a minute or two of stunned silence while the boys digested this bit of information.

"Maybe it's because I've been a pitcher that I missed football," he ventured. "I loved to tackle as much as I did to carry the ball and I didn't like to sit on the bench. In baseball I find myself sitting on the bench three or four days at a time. Maybe I would have liked it better if I'd been an outfielder."

Would he perhaps be pleased if Casey Stengel used him exclusively as a reliever? That would at least keep him better occupied and stop some of his brooding over a lost football career.

"Well, at this point it's necessary to get commercial," Reynolds said with his gold-toothed smile.

"What they pay a pitcher for is the games he starts and wins. They don't pay a reliever as good. Otherwise I don't have much choice. Neither offers me any more challenge than the other—starting or relieving."

Asked if he and the Yanks were very far apart on salary, Allie insisted that he and the world champions hadn't really gotten down to discussing the matter yet. He had, however, just come out of a protracted session with Roy Hamey, the Yankee assistant general manager in charge of salary arguments.

"I can't say how far apart we are, because we haven't gotten that far along yet," Allie said. "I brought my contract in and I guess we'll do a little talking about it. There's plenty of time as I'm going to be around here for another week."

Danger — Deer Crossing
By WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor

At the appropriate season last Fall one of the humor magazines ran a cartoon showing a hunting-type character, all dolled up in red cap and rifle, waiting patiently by one of those "Deer Crossing" signs, while parkway traffic whizzed past in an unending stream. Presumably he was behaving in an idiotic fashion.

But barring the fact that the highway was at the moment so burdened with traffic that even the most civilization-smart white-tail wouldn't have ventured within a rubber mile of it — which in part shows the deer to be brainier than the average Sunday driver — maybe the hopeful Nimrod wasn't such a nincompoop.

Deer do have regular road-crossing routes to which they'll stick regardless of the season. And their crossings to and from feeding or bedding grounds are always located at the most deserted, the least well lighted section of any highway.

The famed Aggie defense held the sheekers under 40 points for the first time this season.

In the same league, the Houston Cougars pulled their second straight surprise, beating St. Louis, 71-70, at St. Louis, Houston, fresh from an upset win over Tulsa, was led by Jack Mosher and Dick Kiltman, each with 18 points. Don Bushka, leading scorer in the conference, tallied 21 in a vain cause for St. Louis, the nation's 16th ranked team.

In other leading games last night, Don Lange came within a basket of tying his own academy record as he scored 37 points to lead Navy to a 107-72 conquest of Muhlenberg; Army equaled its home court scoring record as it trounced St. Michael's of Vermont, 95-58; Mississippi State trounced Howard College, 81-50; and Duke beat the McCrary Eagles, 87-76.

Deborah said quickly, "You don't have to tell me a thing, Rom, unless you want to."

"I do want to..." Though he paused as if it were not easy to go on.

"It was a girl, wasn't it?" asked Deborah helpfully.

"Yes, a girl. I knew her before I came to the States. She was one of my father's pupils. She got to Paris, managed to get a letter to me—I joined her there and we went together back to Poland. I tried to persuade her to return to the States with me but she said her work was there—mine here. She would not marry me."

He looked up at her, his eyes blazing with anger. "If that had been all! But it wasn't. The money I've entrusted to her to use as we planned it—it's gone, yes, into the rebuilding of my father's school, but the school is not used for teaching of the principles of liberty my father taught! She laughs at them now! It is that betrayal I will never forgive!"

No, no use to say to the boy that he'd forgotten it, some day. So Deborah said, gently, "You've got to tell now, Rom, and you're home, so eat your dinner."

"Can't make it today, baby. Got to work..."

Tony had just said that over the telephone and Nell kept hearing it, even after she put the receiver back on its hook. He hadn't said he was sorry and it had been three days since she had seen him. He had said, "Tomorrow — same time," but that did not help her. He had said, "I'll be back the day after tomorrow, ready to spring into it. Was Tony tired of her?"

"No, no," she cried aloud, walking away from the telephone. "You're just imagining it. Because things are going wrong here at home."

White Sox See a Pennant

CHICAGO (AP) — General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox boldly proclaimed a 1953 pennant today while exhorting his players to give their all.

Cheer Leader Lane, in a memorandum to six players prior to their departure for spring training camp, said:

"This can be our year. . . . Our players live up to their potential in 1953, we can, and will play, part of the World Series in Comiskey Park."

"Manager Paul Richards and I feel this year's team is the strongest White Sox representative in recent years. We feel you players have the ability and wherewithal to fly the American League pennant over Comiskey Park next October."

Bobcats Down Nashville But Girls Lose

The Hope Bobcats used height and a fast break to advantage last night for a comparatively easy 61 to 42 victory over Nashville in a game that saw the regulars in limited action.

Leading 31 to 21 at halftime the Bobcats led by Hatch with 16 and Bruce with 14, were never in trouble. Nashville's Charles Sharp was the star of his team, scoring 24 points.

In the opening contest the Nashville girls poured it on the Hope lassies 40 to 32.

The National Guards went down in defeat to the Arkadelphia independents by a count of 85 to 74.

on plowed into a Yankee whitetail. Result: $400 of repair work on the car, and as much more for assorted stitichings and soothings to the front-seat passengers who picked the shattered windshield out of their laps — and faces. Secondary result: one dead doe that was so badly smashed up it would not make even passable hamburger for the widows and orphans — and obviously would drop no more buck fawns to grow into hunters' trophies.

There isn't a garage operating in deer country anywhere that has not at some time towed in a car which was smashed up by contact with a light-bewildered deer or rolled off the road in an effort to avoid that contact. Many of the hospitals thereabouts have used up caigut and antiseptics patching up humans damaged in the same contact. All of which is reason enough, perhaps for paying attention to those crossing signs, particularly when the open road most suggests top speed.

But it isn't to any man who enjoys hunting as a sport, the only reason. The amount of game — not only chucks and skunks and rabbits, but large eating style game creatures — that is picked off by cars every year runs into astronomical numbers. So why not read signs on the road — you read signs in the woods, don't you?

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

"Rom?"

He stood still a moment, in the door.

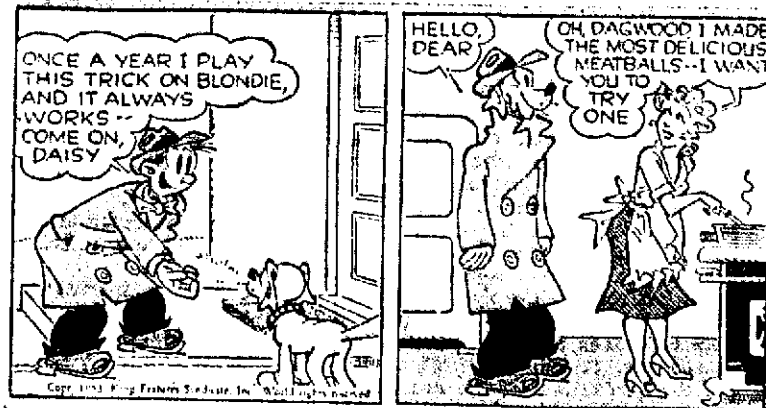

She crossed the room to him. "I've been looking for you every day!" She saw his thinness, his face, emptied-looking, like an old man's. She wanted to put her arms around him but instead she said briskly, "Go, wash up, and I'll fix some food for you."

Without a word, perhaps too tired to trust himself to speak a word, he went upstairs to his room. Later, with his supper before him, Rom only looked down at his plate. "I think I should tell you..."

Deborah said quickly, "You don't have to tell me a thing, Rom, unless you want to."

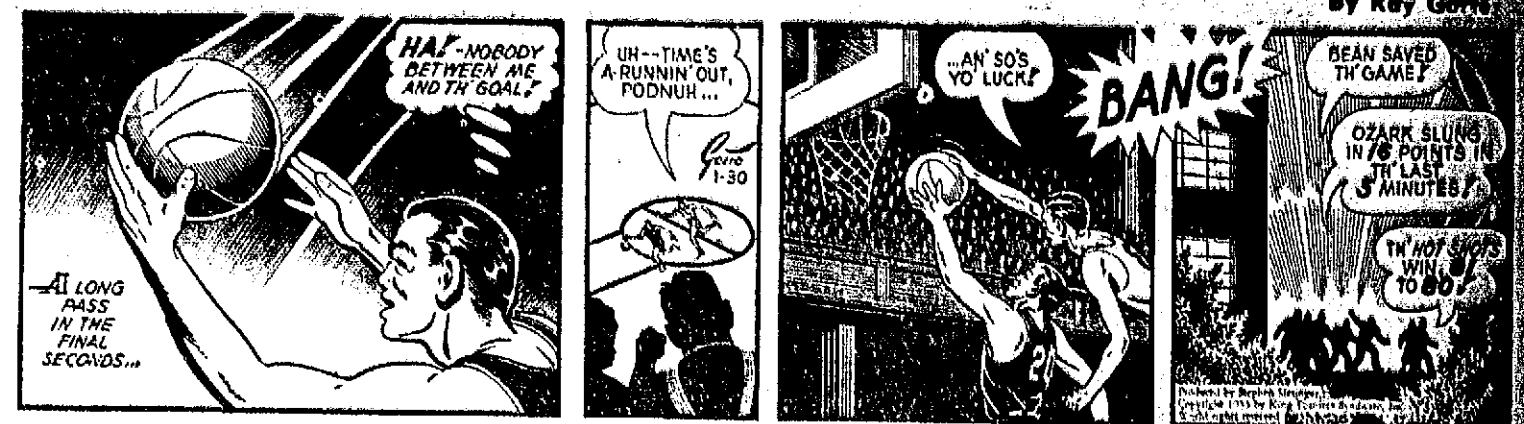

"I do want to..." Though he paused as if it were not easy to go on.

Diligently Pray For The Work of Your Church

Jesus said, "Because you are lukewarm, and neither cold or hot, I will spew you out of my mouth," Rev. 3:16. If that's your bracket you better start getting up some temperature about life's values... home, children, school, church, God, right and wrong.

Jesus died to save you, can't you do some living for Him? Do you believe, "Life is real, life is earnest and the grave is not its goal; dust thou art, to dust thou returnest, was not spoken of the soul"? Are you lukewarm? Why not get hot for God? Put righteousness first.

Arkansas Radio Ham Is Honored

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A 20-year-old college student from Searcy, Ark., was honored as the most outstanding radio amateur operator for 1952 here last night.

Don L. Mullican of Chickasha, Okla., a junior ministry student at Harding College was presented a wristwatch and trophy by General Electric Corp. for his outstanding performance during the tornadoes that swept Arkansas last year. It was the first award of its type made by the company.

Arkadelphia Youth One of Two Survivors

By STAN CARTER

WITH U. S. FIRST DIVISION, Korea —Only two Marines came back. The other 40 died in the savage onslaught of 250 Chinese Reds.

It happened last October. But because the number of Marine casualties could not be disclosed at the time, the story wasn't told.

Pfc. Curtis (Chick) Bowlin, 19, was wounded and hospitalized but recovered to fight again with the Leathernecks. Now he is about to return to his Huntington, W. Va., home on rotation.

The only other survivor, Pfc. Charles D. Rogers, Arkadelphia, Ark., was evacuated to the U. S. with serious wounds.

Bowlin today told how the Reds swarmed out of the night in a vicious attack on a Marine outpost on a hill near Paumotu on the Western Front.

The Marines couldn't hold them. The Communists swarmed through the position with bayonets and grenades.

Bowlin and five others fell back to a high point. On the way up Bowlin fired his machine gun from the hip. From the top, the six men held off the Communist attackers for six hours. Then they ran out of ammunition.

Communist artillery fire killed one of the six.

"We knocked out a lot of them, but there were just too many for us," Bowlin said. "All of us were wounded bad and hardly had a chance to bandage each other up. All I had left was a .45."

Three groups of Reds assaulted the little knoll where the small group of Marines had out. The Leathernecks knocked them back. The section leader was a big husky sergeant. His arm was almost blown off. Bowlin made a tourniquet with the sergeant's belt and a bayonet. Bowlin was hit in the back with a grenade, and was bleeding.

The men tried to get back to their base. They didn't know the Communists had overrun that particular part of the main line.

Bowlin, a slightly built 140-pounder, tried to help the sergeant along. They became separated from the other four.

"I never saw them again," Bowlin said.

Bowlin carried the 180-pound sergeant 200 or 300 yards. Then he dragged him by the feet through trench toward their line.

"The sergeant told me to leave him. I finally had to. I couldn't carry him any more," Bowlin recalled.

Bowlin walked almost to the main line—only to find the Communists barring his way. He hid under some bushes until daylight.

Then he found Rogers, staggered around in no-man's land with two bullet wounds in the neck.

Together they tried to get back to their outfit. Once they thought they saw other Marines on a ridge-line. They hurried toward them, and were fired on by Chinese. They doubled back, dodging Red mortar fire.

Finally they made it—two lone survivors of a bitter battle for a small knob in Western Korea.

If You Want to Get Wilbur's Attention You Better Wait Until He Reads Newspaper

By HAL BOYLE
HOMETOWN, U.S.A. (AP)—After

Dinner Wilbur Peeble, like any other average American husband, usually disappeared behind his evening newspaper.

The problem of his wife then is to find some way of getting his attention — short of setting fire to him.

This particular evening Trellis Mae decided on an experiment to see just how deep a coma her little man could get into. So, as soon as he was comfortably settled in his easy chair and had started reading the newspaper, she said gaily:

"Well, dear, I finally slew our maid this morning. You don't really mind do you?"

Silence.

"Wilbur" said Trellis Mae, cupping her hands so her voice would

Advertising Pays Church Finds

WAMPVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Elders of the Presbyterian church say they didn't insert that attendance-pulling advertisement in a newspaper last week but they'd like to thank whoever did.

The plea appearing in the classified section of the Oneida Daily Dispatch, said:

"Wanted men, women and children to sit in slightly used pews, Sunday morning; Wampville Presbyterian Church."

A spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, said attendance jumped from 12 two weeks ago to 36 last Sunday.

TO SEARCH FOR DOCUMENTS

EMPOLI, Italy, (AP)—The Italian police plan a fishing expedition in Lake Como for some of Benito Mussolini's secret documents.

They said Emilio Burrelli, driver of the late dictator's speedboat, told them he dumped three large metal cases of the papers into the lake just before the end of World War II. Burrelli said he acted on Mussolini's orders.
